POETRY.

The following verses are a specimen of Mrs Hemans's talent in humorous composition:—

EPITAPH ON A CELEBRATED MINERALOGIST.

Stop, passenger, a wondrous tale to list—
Here lies a famous mineralogist!
Famous, indeed,—such traces of his power
He's left from Penmanbach to Penmanmawer,—
Such caves, and chasms and fissures in the rocks,
His works resemble those of earthquake shocks;
And future ages very much may wonder
What mighty giant rent the hills asunder;
Or whether Lucifer himself had ne'er
Gone with his crew, to play at foot-ball there.
His fossils, flints and spars of every hue
With him, good reader, here lie buried too!
Sweet specimens, which toiling to obtain,
He split huge cliffs like so much wood in twain;
We knew, so great the fuss he made about them,
Alive or dead, he ne'er would rest without them;
So to secure soft slumber to his bones,
We paved his grave with all his favorite stones.
His much loved hammer's resting by his side,
Each hand contains a shell-fish petrified;
His mouth a piece of pudding stone encloses,
And at his feet a lump of coal reposes:
Sure he was born beneath some lucky planet,
His very coffin plate is made of granite!
Weep not, good reader! he is truly blest,
Amidst chalcedony and quartz to rest—
Weep not for him! but envied be his doom,
Whose tomb, though small, for all he loved had room
And, O ye rocks! schist, gneiss, whate'er ye be,
Ye varied strata, names too hard for me,
Sing "O be joyful!" for your direst foe,
By death's fell hammer, is at length laid low.
Ne'er on your spoils again shall —— —— riot,
Shut up your cloudy brows, and rest in quiet!
He sleeps—no longer planning hostile actions,—
As cold as any of his petrifactions;
Enshrined in specimens of every hue,
Too tranquil e'en to dream, ye rocks, of you.

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE.

The last number of the N. A. Review, among other articles, contains one on "American Architecture," of which we present our readers with an epitome. The reference to buildings in Boston will give it additional interest for our city readers.

ART. III. The American Builder's General Price Book and Estimator; deduced from extensive Experience in the best of Building. By JAMES GALLIER, Architect. Boston. M. Burns, 134 Washington street.—The reviewer makes this work the basis for certain very ingenious remarks on American Architecture, from which we have extracted the following abridgement. He remarks that the rules of architecture are probably violated more frequently, than any other of the fine arts, and in no civilized country are they less regarded than in the United States. Thus far, it is with us in a very chaotic state. He speaks of meeting houses according to the old Puritanical model, as being the only specimen of genuine American architecture, which resemble nothing else of the kind in the known world. The reviewer speaks first of the architecture of public buildings in the United States. The most costly and undoubtedly the noblest edifice in the United States is the Capitol at Washington. The dome, however, is ill-proportioned and out of place. The Capitol is built of Potomac freestone, of a rich brown color, and a more beautiful material, says the reviewer, we have never seen. It has been painted, however, to conceal the effects of the smoke from the burning of a portion of it before it was completed, so that it resembles white marble.

Philadelphia abounds more in good architecture than any other city of the Union. The U. S. Bank, the Mint, and the Exchange are her finest specimens of architecture. They are built of white marble. The reviewer recommends the Grecian architecture as being peculiarly fit for banking houses.

The architecture of New York is truly meagre. The Custom House, however, judging from the plans, will be a superb edifice. The City Hall has hitherto been the most remarkable building in the city; but, as a whole, it is deficient in character, and fails to produce the effect which should be expected from its size and cost. The new building for the University has some striking merits, and is of the Gothic order. Thus far, the Gothic order, where it has appeared in United States, has been almost exclusively appropriated to churches. Wherever it has been found necessary to erect large secular edifices, they have either been entirely destitute of ornament, and belonging to no order of architecture, or slightly adorned with Grecian cornices and pilasters.

Instances of this architecture appear all over the country; but there are no specimens better illustrative of this style, than most of the College Buildings at Cambridge, New England. They are perfect specimens of no known order of architecture; vast brick barns, destitute alike, of symmetry, ornament and taste; and there is a sort of horrible regularity and squareness about them which heightens their deformity. Speaking of the stone building, the reviewer says—"We doubt whether the world contains any other architectural abortion, to be compared to this." The New University of New York, continues the reviewer, is vastly handsomer than any other college building in the United States. The gothic style might, with excellent effect, be employed for any edifice which is to be large, and at the same time to contain a number of different rooms, varying in size. It is peculiarly appropriate to Court Houses in our large cities. The reviewer comes at length to Boston, "the Athens of America." Yet though so styled, its architecture is singularly bad. The most important edifice which is seen on approaching Boston, is the State House. The architect of the State House deserves great praise for his general plan. The effect of the dome, on account of the elevated spot on which the building stands, is very striking. The wings of the building, however, are so short as to appear mean, and render the whole too small for the dome which surmounts it. But this fault is not to be attributed to the architect. The original plan made the wings more extensive; but they were clipped by our Legislature, who could not afford to buy so much architecture. The facade is certainly handsome, but it would be much improved, if the columns in the Corinthian portico were single throughout. The great fault, however, is the heaviness of the dome. The next remarkable edifice is the Mass. General Hospital, some parts of which are fine. The Ionic portico in front, taken alone, is dignified and impressive—but, as a whole, it is considered a failure.

The Masonic Temple, on account of its pointed windows, and the small spires, which stick up like asses' ears at the front corners, claims to be Gothic. Barbarous enough it certainly is. The front belongs to the early English style; but the sides of the edifice do not belong to the same age as the front; and the low arched windows are very disagreeably contrasted with the more elegant proportions of the one in front. The whole, taken together, is bad.

The most perfect piece of Architecture in Boston, is the facade of the Tremont Theatre—but the roof is too steep for classical elegance. With this exception, the proportions are admirable.

Another very pretty building belonging to Boston, is the Hospital at Rainsford's Island. It is of an oblong form, entirely surrounded by a Doric portico, like the Parthenon; and standing on a brick promontory, it makes a fine appearance when viewed from the neighboring shores.

Some of the Banks in Boston are pretty, particularly a small stone edifice nearly opposite Boylston Market, the proportions of which are very good. The edifice erected in State street for the United States Branch Bank, is an instance of what occurs very frequently in this city—great expense with very little effect. Regard must be had to the place in which a building is to stand. The edifice, independent of its situation, is well enough. If it stood on the summit of Beacon Hill, in an open area, it would make a beautiful appearance; at present its beauties are lost.

In regard to the New Court House, the reviewer says—"Let the reader imagine a building so long, narrow, and high, as to resemble a sheet of baker's gingerbread, standing upon the edge, and he will have some notion of the outline." We may say of it as a Western gentleman remarked of an Academy—"If you were to turn it over on its side it would cover a great deal of land," and this is about all that can be said in praise of the Court House.—It would be all well enough, however, for a structure whose internal arrangements were adapted to the purpose for which they were designed, had it been left without any pretensions to architecture. But as if it were necessary to make a little display of taste and classical skill, we have Grecian porticoes built against the end walls. In themselves they are beautiful. They are of the Doric order, but they do not belong to the building. They would be just as appropriate if they stood at the opposite side of the street. They ought to be removed from their present unfavorable position at the ends of the Court House, and carefully preserved, till they can be used for some building of Grecian architecture, to which they properly belong.

The reviewer concludes with some very excellent remarks upon sacred, sepulchral, and domestic architecture, which are highly worthy of the attention of our countrymen. The highest steeple in the United States is that of the Park-street Church, Boston, which rises above two hundred feet. The ornaments are of Grecian order; the body of the church belongs to no order whatever; but on the whole it is an elegant structure.

One of the best proportioned steeples in our country is that of the church in Chesnut street, Salem, Mass. The Ionic portico in front is uncommonly elegant, though simple and unpretending. The lightest and most graceful steeple in Boston is in Federal street, of the Gothic order. The building has few merits, however, except the steeple. One great defect is dividing the building into two stories, of which the upper windows only have the pointed arch.

Trinity Church in Boston, is superior to any edifice in the city, of the same style (Gothic) that was built before it, and the tower is the best Gothic, the reviewer thinks, in the United States. The interior is very poor. The interior of Grace Church is much better. The prettiest Gothic churches in our country are at Gardiner, Me., and at Hartford, Ct.

The Gothic Church at Cambridge, in which the exercises of the annual commencement are performed, is a failure. The front is the best part of the building. The form is of the most awkward kind, too nearly the same in length and breadth. In the interior, but for the pointed windows and the pulpit, one could not discover to what order it was intended to belong. The roof is extremely uncouth; the tower and spire are both too short, and, in general, the edifice looks more like a barn with a steeple to it, than any thing else. Near by is the modest and beautiful little Episcopal Church, whose faultless proportions have been so often praised but never imitated.

St. Paul's Church, Boston, has, undoubtedly, the finest interior of any in the city. The simplicity and excellent proportion of the whole, give it a solemn, grand, and even collossal appearance. The exterior is not so good. "We cannot take leave of Boston," says the reviewer, "without bestowing a word upon two abortions of ugliness, which purport to be churches, fronting upon Washington street, at the South End. We cannot believe that any architect planned these monstrous edifices. Corporate bodies, it is said, have no conscience, and these buildings may possibly be the result of corporate irresponsibleness; no individual, of mortal race, could have been atrocious enough to design them." The Ecclesiastical Architecture in our country, continues the reviewer, is in a very unsettled and ill-defined state, having neither the stern simplicity and unpretending rudeness of the puritanical meeting-houses, nor the grace and richness of form and ornament of European churches. He recommends to all societies who are preparing to build, to employ an architect, and abide strictly by his plan, instead of murdering it with alterations. This is certainly a very good hint. He recommends, too, that they be made of a more durable material than wood—that our posterity may have some antiquity to reverence in the form of a church. In regard to the Auburn cemetery, he recommends that the Gothic style of architecture be adopted in the place of the Egyptian, as being more consonant with Christianity. In regard to our domestic architecture, he recommends the English cottage style as perfectly adapted to our climate, and in good keeping with our taste in ornamental gardening. He justly condems the prevailing passion for expensive columns in this country as tending, by their expense, to exclude other more important and chaster ornaments about a dwelling.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1836.

"In the state of things at present existing in this country, my personal wishes are, to withdraw my name from the place it occupies before the public."
DANIEL WEBSTER.

"A vote of the Senate of the United States has attached to my name a disgrace which I am fully convinced no time or no efforts of mine will ever be able to efface."—Extract from Gen. Harrison's Letter dated July 16, 1816. See Niles' Reg., Vol. 10, page 424.

TO THE WHIGS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In our last communication it was attempted to be shown that your leaders were creating a false issue, by crying out against the Baltimore nominations, when in truth their real designs are to retain in their own hands the present and future destinies of Massachusetts. And now let me ask, what are you to gain by such a result? You, who make no pretensions to be leaders. You, plain, honest, independent citizens who are scattered over the interior of the State, and only desire such a State Government as shall protect alike all who reside within its borders? The present is a favorable moment to settle this point with yourselves. You have for years tried a State administration conducted by, at most, some half dozen men, who have no feelings in common with yourselves, who have no interests immediately allied to your own, men in truth, whose whole aims have been place and power, for their own personal honor and emolument, to the exclusion of all others, however honest, however capable. If you will take even a hasty survey of the range of selection for executive favors by your leaders, you cannot but see that almost every thing is, and has long been, in the hands of a few wealthy, and often feeble families whose only merit, if merit it be, consists in their being the sons, or sons in law of some fortunate speculators. Can you as freemen, intelligent and shrewd beyond any other people on earth, longer submit to the guidance of such men? Men who fatten upon the prejudices which they have created in you, and who daily reap the rewards of your industry? To satisfy yourselves that this last query is not without meaning, open the statute books of Massachusetts. Look at the innumerable acts of incorporation passed by your legislators, and sanctioned by your governors, for the last ten years. Here you will see that your leaders have been for years busily at work in disposing of your unalienable rights—tying up, by special laws, masses upon masses of private property for the exclusive benefit of a few individuals; and what is worse, declaring that these creatures are superior to the creator! That one legislature can make a contract inviolable by its successors, and that you have no right to undo even the grossest errors committed by such special grant. This is modern whiggism! But it is a principle which no inconsiderable portion of your party utterly abominate; and your leaders, aware of this, are endeavoring by every means, falsehood, slander and hypocrisy not excepted, to draw your attention from state politics to the approaching Presidential Election, where they know their chance of success is absolutely hopeless.

Let us, however, suppose for a single moment, for the sake of seeing clearly the point to which it will lead us, that the position assumed at the late Worcester Convention covers the real battle ground on which your leaders wish you to contend for mastery, viz.—"Opposition to the Baltimore nominations." Now, how is this opposition to be manifested? By voting for White? certainly not. For Harrison? why, not exactly. Oh, no! your leaders dare not command you to take this course. They know, full well, there are too many old admirers of Jefferson and Madison in their their ranks to hazzard such a step. But you are called upon to choose Webster electors—good, honest, Webster men, and then—yes, and then they will make the best bargain for—for you? No;—for themselves!—the best bargain for themselves that the case will admit of. This, my good whig friends, is the real state of the case. You are called on to give your votes for somebody, you know not who,—nor do your leaders mean you shall, and are then very modestly desired to give yourselves no further trouble about the matter; and this in a republican government, where every man is supposed capable of deciding for himself upon the competency of his agents! We beg of you to look at this state of the case for a moment. Webster, your real man, is out of the question. He can only get votes enough to cover himself with disgrace, but hardly enough to render his weakness visible, if run at all, and yet your desperate leaders have thrust him into this position to stand as a post over which they may rest in firing at Harrison. If Daniel Webster were not the humblest tool in existence—were his breast the repository of one particle of real magnanimity—one iota of real greatness, he would spurn from his presence his whole detestible herd of masters, and throw himself upon his own resources. But, no; the serpent is charming the God-like; and Daniel—the great Daniel—has become a mere fulcrum, over which Peter Parley & Co. are lifting into consequence the illustrious "PET OF THE PETTICOATS!"

SAMUEL ADAMS.

Publishers of a Newspaper obtaining and using express despatches, directed to another Journal.—The Court of Sessions of New York city were engaged, on Wednesday and Thursday last, in trying an interesting case of this description. Benjamin H. Day, Moses Y. Beach, and Dr. John F. Ellis—the two former being publishers of the N. Y. Sun—were indicted for clandestinely obtaining possession of, and violating the seal, and using the contents of, a package directed to the Courier and Enquirer, and brought by express from Washington for that paper. The Express contained a letter written by Henry Godfrey Wheeler, reporter of the Courier and Enquirer, and sent by him on the 18th of January, and covered a Message of the President to Congress. The facts in the case are somewhat singular, and there seems to be some unexplained mystery about it. It appears that an individual brought the package to the office of the Sun, but it does not appear that the publishers of the Sun had engaged him, or authorized him to do so; and that they declined to authorize him to open it in their office, but he did open it, and they copied the intelligence contained in it, for the Sun. The package was then re-sealed, and taken to the office of the Courier and Enquirer by Mr Beach's own son, Alfred, who called himself Peter Jones; and said his mother kept a boarding-house in Courtlandt street. He said that he received the package from a young man in that street, and was told to take it to the Courier and Enquirer office. Mr Hoskins, assistant editor, knew that there was no such boarding house in Courtlandt street as the one described by Alfred, alias Peter; and upon being further pressed, the boy disclosed all that had occurred at the office of the Sun, and acknowledged that his father had sent him with the package. A police examination was had the next day, and the defendants were held to answer before the Recorder's Court. In the meantime, the publishers of the Sun printed several articles, accusing Col. Webb and Mr Hoskins, of the Courier and Enquirer, with having entered into a conspiracy to ruin them by causing the package to be transmitted to them, and thereby tempt them to break it open and incur the penalty of the law for "violating a seal."

Numerous points of law were raised in the trial; and the court ruled generally against the ground taken in the defence. The jury returned a verdict of Not Guilty on the first count, for obtaining and opening the package, but Guilty on the second and third, for causing it to be read, and using the contents, the penalty for which is a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding one month.

The counsel for the defendants have taken exceptions to the charge of the Recorder, and the publishers of the Sun complain severely of his course in the trial.

Meeting of the Lowell Factory Girls' Association.—A meeting of this Association was holden at the City Hall on the 6th of October. Wm. B. May, Moderator; E. A. Blanchard, Secretary. Prayer was offered—various addresses were made—and several resolutions adopted, of which we will endeavor to give the substance. 1. Knowing that we are liable, as our predecessors have been, to be oppressed in various ways by avaricious capitalists, and knowing that "union is power," we claim the right of association, that we may repel aggressions. 2 Being thus united, we are resolved not to receive any proposition from either of the Manufacturing Companies in Lowell, except by and through our officers. 3. When two-thirds of our officers approve a proposition, the President will call a meeting of the society, and lay it before them for their consideration. 4. We advise all our members, who cannot consistently stay in this city, to leave it as soon as it is convenient. 5. Board of officers are authorised to fill all vacancies in their board. 6. We will receive no communication from either of the Manufacturing Companies, containing a proscription of any officer or member of this society. The above is the substance though not the exact wording, of their resolutions. Thanks were then voted to the Reverend gentlemen who honored the meeting with their attendance and remarks. Several speeches were made, sustaining the Resolutions, and commending the object of the society, two of which are reported in the Lowell Advertiser.

☞ There is a report in the New York papers that Mr Edward Weed, the Abolitionist, late of Lane Seminary, had been murdered by a mob at Chillicothe, Ohio; it is not credited, however. The story runs thus—

"There was a town gathering at Chillicothe on some day of last week, when Mr Weed arrived in town on some business; and, being known as an abolitionist, some indignities were offered to him—such as shaving his horse, removing the wheels of his wagon, &c.; that Mr Weed soon after left town, was followed by the mob, his wagon broken to pieces, his horse killed, and at length HIMSELF SUSPENDED TO A TREE BY A ROPE OF BARK until he was dead."

We have the Chillicothe Advertiser of the 1st inst. in which there is no allusion to any thing of the kind.

☞ An abstract of the interesting paper upon American Architecture, published in the last North American Review, may be found on our First Page. The remarks upon the edifices in Boston and its vicinity, will be read with attention by Bostonians.

They say that the Belfast, Maine, people have the worst looking graveyard in the State. Who would want to be buried there?

PENNSYLVANIA—ALL RIGHT.

The news from the interior of this State was never more cheering than at present. The results of the Inspectors of Elections have even astonished the most sanguine of the friends of Van Buren and Johnson. They looked for victory, but they scarcely anticipated that at the very outset, the coalesced forces of the opposition would meet with such a San Jacinto defeat, and be so completely scattered to the winds. Our friends in the other States can now see how idle were the tales put forth by the Bank whigs in relation to the "Keystone of the Arch."—Pennsylvanian.

The Williamsport Chronicle says—

"The election of Inspector and Assessor for the Borough of Williamsport, resulted in favor of the democratic Van Buren and Johnson candidates, by a handsome majority. It was a trial of party strength, induced by a swaggering notice in the Free Press. In the neighboring townships, as far as heard from, the democratic candidates have been elected.

In Northumberland we have carried the Borough and Point township three to one—heard no further.

Every township but three in Union county has also thrown off Middleswarth's Bank collar. Prospects in Union are excellent."

GOOD FROM DELAWARE.

By letters received last evening from our attentive correspondent in Newcastle, we learn that, in Newcastle Hundred, on Tuesday, the friends of Van Buren carried their whole ticket, Inspector, Assessor, and Road Commissioner, by a handsome majority. At the last election the whigs were successful by a majority of fifty-seven votes. It was a strict party vote.

In Wilmington, nearly 600 votes were polled, and the Van Buren party had a majority of 20.

In Brandywine Hundred the Van Buren majority was forty. In Christiana Hundred, the whig majority is greatly reduced. Our friends in Delaware are redeeming their promises, and will be found where we wish them in the great struggle. The "great re-actions go on gloriously." —Pennsylvanian.

The choice of Election Inspectors took place in Delaware on Monday last. In Mill Creek, Van Buren Inspector,—majority 20. In White Clay, Van Buren Inspector, 38 majority. Apoquinimink, Whig Inspector,—20 majority. Red Lion, Van Buren Inspector,—majority not known. Dover, whig Inspector,—73 majority. Little Creek do., 22 majority.—Milford, do. 43 majority.—Duck Creek, do., 37 majority. Murderkill, Van Buren,—about 20 majority.—Jour. Com.

☞ The Election of town officers took place throughout the State, in Connecticut on Monday last. The democrats have rowed the feds up Salt river all round.

Maryland.—The election of Assembly men has resulted in the choice of 19 democrats and 60 federalists. Last year the Assembly stood 25 democrats, 55 federalists.

☞ General Jackson seduced the wife of his friend, then shot him, and married the widow —Yeoman's Gaz

A base, wilful, and malicious lie; its dastardly author deserves the execration of every honest citizen for his shameless mendacity. Mr Hoar's agents in District No 4, will not aid him by such modes of warfare.

Mr Midshipman Easy. By the Author of "Peter Simple," &c. Marsh, Capen, & Lyon. Boston.—This book needs no better recommendation than the name of its author, Capt. Marryatt, who enjoys in this country great popularity. This is a very handsome edition, in two volumes, for which, being corrected of certain errors in the English copy, the publishers have taken out a copyright.

Drowned.—The New York Sun states that the body of an unknown, but well-dressed man was found floating in the slip of the Jersey city boats, on Thursday morning. It did not appear to have been in the water but a few hours. In his pockets were found $385, in bills, and a slip of paper with the name of Shaw written on it. His linen was marked with the initials D. C. C. A stout. fleshy man, about 45 years old.

Sudden Death.—A merchant, named Sylvester Blair, and belonging to Courtlandt, Court. county, N. Y., died suddenly on Thursday morning, on board of the steamer Dewitt Clinton. While moving to go ashore at the wharf at New York, he fell into a fit, was placed on a sofa, and died. Coroner's verdict—death by fits.

The amount of money in the Treasury subject to draft, as shown by the running account of the Treasurer, was, on the 1st instant, $41,283,651 95; and "the amount standing to the credit of disbursing officers," as shown by the latest returns received, was $5,326,476 79.

Two men, while fighting at Philadelphia the other day grappled and fell together. On getting up it was found that both had lost a lip, one the under and the other the upper lip. One pocketed his lost mouth-piece and went away, and the other was left searching for his appendage.

General Gaines has written a letter to Governor Cannon of Tennessee, attempting to justify the requisition he made upon the Governor for the troops which the President said were not required.

"We will thank such scoundrels as the one mentioned below, calling himself George P. Warren, not to hail from Haverhill, Mass. No such person as George P. Warren, was ever known, we believe, in this place."

We would call the attention of our readers to an advertisement in this day's paper of some splendid Gallery Paintings of a religious and moral description, for sale.

Too true.—The Dedham Advertiser says that milk rises faster than cream.

They talk of building immense cotton presses and tobacco warehouses in New Orleans at the public expense.

$200,000, it is said, were bet upon the Races between the horses Tennessee and Kentucky at Louisville.

The Tallahassee Floridian of the 24th ult., contains the death of Major Washington, of the Tennessee Volunteers.

The water in the Penobscot is lower now than it ever was known to be before.

Melancholy News.—We learn from the office of the Claremont (N. H.) Eagle, that the Hon. William C. Jarvis—late Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, committed suicide on the 3d inst. while in a state of mental derangement. He arrived at West Claremont on the evening preceding, and took lodgings at a tavern. The next morning he arose as usual, and, after taking breakfast, crossed over the Connecticut, to the Vermont side of the river, in Weathersfield, and shot himself through the heart with a pistol.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Outrageous Riot.—Charles White, William Elder, jr., John Davis, and William H. Seaver, were indicted for a riot, in Tremont street, near Park Hall, on the day the Regiment of Light Infantry were reviewed on the Common. The riot consisted in an attempt to rescue White, a prisoner, from the custody of Constables Hunt and Loring—White and Elder having brutally assaulted Benjamin R. Gilbert, jr., a deaf man. White and Elder were also separately indicted for this assault. White is decidedly the most evil-looking culprit that has been arraigned in any of our courts these five years: some artist should secure his likeness, as the personification—the type—the complete representative of a "wicked and perverse generation." He pleaded guilty to the assault, and by this plea he established, beyond all possible contradiction, the important point, that the Constables had him legally in their custody, and therefore any interference on the part of the other prisoners, was prima facie riotous. They, however, all pleaded not guilty to the riot, and witnesses were examined.

Mr Gilbert said—I was going up Tremont street, near the corner at Boylston street, and stepped up on the side walk to get out of the way of a carriage; suddenly I received two or three blows in my back and side. I turned round to ask what the fellow (White) who struck at me, meant; then Elder struck me in the mouth, and knocked out three of my teeth. I stooped down to pick them up, and when I was rising with my teeth in my hand, the other fellow struck me again.

Here Mr Parker proposed to prove that Mr Gilbert was an exceedingly civil and inoffensive man; but Mr Park, who appeared for Davis and Seaver, said he would admit that Gilbert was all that Mr Parker described him to be.

Mr Harris said—I saw Mr Gilbert struck—he turned round and asked the chaps that were following him what they meant. Bill Elder jumped up to him, and said—"What are you going to do about it?" But Elder did not give him much chance to answer, before he knocked his teeth out. While Gilbert was picking up his teeth, he received another clip; and he then picked himself up, and began to hunt for his teeth, and found them again. After White was arrested, I saw Elder handling his fists again.

Mr Hunt, Constable—I saw a collection of people—Gilbert pointed White out, and I arrested him. He said he did not stop to see who the other man was who struck him, because he was in a hurry to find his teeth. Seaver came up, and said we should not carry White off, because he had done nothing. White was then in Loring's custody. Seaver came squaring up—I told him to keep away, or I would have him punished. I said to him—"I shall know you among a thousand, for you are cross-eyed!" At the same time, Davis broke Loring's hold on White, and said to him—"Now White bolt!" and White ran down Elliott street.

Loring, Constable, told a similar story, and a host of other witnesses contributed several other incidents of the affray. Davis and Seaver were in their turn arrested, but rescued by White and Elder and their friends; but before morning they were all secured.

In his argument, Mr Park admitted that Gilbert had been assaulted; that there had been an affray in a public place, which in the language of the common law, "was a great terror to the king's subjects," but contended that there was not that concert of action which in law constitutes a riot.

Mr Parker argued that the prisoners at the time professed to act in concert as friends and allies.

His Honor the Judge charged the jury that "Mr Gilbert's teeth—good sound teeth—had been driven by force from his mouth."

Before retiring, a juror wanted to find out whether either of the prisoners was married.

Mr Parker objected to the inquiry; for if it should turn out that one of them was married, he was not acquainted with any principle of law which gave him the right to knock a bachelor's teeth out.

The jury were out a short time, and returned with a verdict of guilty against the four, but recommended Seaver to mercy, as he had not been so violent as the others.

Notwithstanding this verdict, Elder has yet to answer for the assault on Gilbert. The proof against him amounts to mathematico-chemico demonstration, viz: in knocking Gilbert's teeth out, he knocked the skin off from his own knuckles; and as Gilbert eats tobacco, his teeth, like the venomed serpent's, were saturated with an essential oil, which poisoned Elder's hand to such a degree that he could not get it through his sleeve.

William H. Hylar pleaded guilty, by proxy, for "passing several over-handed blows" at Constable Ellis. He has since shipped for India; and out of respect for his father, Mr Ellis recommended a light sentence. $10.00, and costs, were imposed, and paid by the proxy.

Mem.—Some of our papers have been rolling up their eyes because in Turkey a culprit may hire a proxy to take a whipping to which he may have been sentenced. There are a good many folks in this world who would sooner take a whipping than pay $10.00.

There are several indictments pending against persons for keeping houses of bad repute in Pleasant street. It appears that, for the past six months, the neighbors in the vicinity of the vicious haunts have formed themselves into sets of sentinels, and have noted down who goes in and who goes out. The names are carefully recorded. Some of the frequenters are neither widowers nor bachelors! but are accounted "very respectable men."

The trial of Dyer has been assigned for to-morrow.

POLICE COURT.—Homicide.—A fatal encounter occurred in Bedford street, between 9 and 10 o'clock, on Friday evening. The mortal engagement sprang from those prolific parents of crimes of the deepest dye—Cards and Rum. PATRICK RILEY, the culprit, and his friend James Stewart, were playing cards in the kitchen of a Mr Carter, at the corner of Lincoln street. In the meantime, JAMES M'NALLY, the deceased, came in, and took a hand with the other two; Riley was first "out," and Stewart and M'Nally "played off," and M'Nally losing, sent out for the liquor. Another game was commenced, and M'Nally was first "out;" but at this moment the domestic—a girl related to Stewart—told the party that it had got to be late, and they must go home. M'Nally insisted, that the party should not break up till Riley and Stewart played off, and the loser paid the liquor, as he had done. Stewart, rather than stay in the house later than was agreeable to his relation, offered to go out and treat. This offer was not satisfactory to M'Nally, and very high words took place between him and Riley, which ended in a fist fight in Bedford street. Riley was not so tall by almost a foot, as M'Nally, and soon got the worst of it, till Stewart handed him a jack-knife, and told him to defend himself with it. He did so, by stabbing M'Nally in the abdomen. He inflicted one mortal wound about two inches below, and a little to the right of the umbilicus. The external cut was about two inches in length—obliquely upwards towards the right side. Four folds of the intestines were lacerated, and a part protruded through the orifice made by the knife; yet in this shocking situation, laying his hands upon the wound, he walked from Bedford street to Dr. Kearney's office, in Water street, where it was skilfully sewed up with all possible despatch. He then went to his boarding house in Wharf street, where, as was expected, he died between five and six o'clock, on Saturday evening, having been attended throughout the day by Doctors Kearney and Lewis. Riley was arrested towards morning by Josiah Haskell, officer of the South Watch. He made no resistance, nor did he at any time attempt to escape. No inquiry into the facts was made in Court, because it was not at the time of R.'s arraignment certain whether M'Nally had been mortally wounded. About noon, at the instance of Mr County Attorney Parker, William Knapp, Esq., a Justice of the Peace, was despatched to take M'Nally's "dying declaration," to be used as evidence on the trial of Riley. He had taken the final sacrament of the "extreme unction," and though sensible of his speedy dissolution, was collected in his manner and clear in his statement. After it had been reduced to writing by Mr Knapp, it was read to him, and he signed it in a bold round hand. He speaks of the cards and the dispute, but says that when the party came out of the door, Riley struck him first. His declaration differs in some material points from Stewart's account; but it did not appear to us, from all we could gather, that there was any legal necessity to resort to the knife. M'Nally had no family. Riley has a wife and two children—one a few weeks old, the other a daughter of 11; she came to Court to see him, and was almost distracted when he was committed to his cell. She insisted upon taking him home with her; and veteran Reid, to soothe her, said she should "have him, in a week, if all went well;" but that week, if it ever come, will not come till he has passed many a weary year of living death; nor until she has far advanced into the state of womanhood. Riley has been a very industrious and faithful laborer, for many years, in one of the first auction establishments in the city. His defence will be conducted by Richard Robins, Esq.

Melancholy.—One of the laborers employed on the Eastern Railroad, in making the excavation on Breed's Island, was killed Friday, by the unexpected caving in of the bank.

The Florida Campaign.—The National Intelligencer announces that the President has ordered a court of inquiry to be held at Frederick, in Maryland, as soon as the state of the service will permit, to investigate the cause of the failure of the campaign in Florida, under Generals Scott and Gaines, and of the delay in the prosecution of the campaign against the Creeks in Alabama.

The court will consist of Major General Macomb, President, Brigadier Generals Brady and Atkinson, and Capt. Samuel Cooper, judge advocate and recorder. The president of the court to be the judge.

Mr Alexander Mitchell, on Friday evening, last week, while on his way from Roxbury to Dedham, driving a three horse team, loaded with about three tons weight, attempted to jump on to the forward part of the wagon for the purpose of riding, but unfortunately his foot slipped, and he fell in such a position, that one of the wheels passed directly over his right thigh, breaking the bone in splinters and crushing it in a dreadful manner.

On Friday of last week, a young man named Barton, fell from a door in the attic story of Carey's Factory, Medway, a distance of 35 feet to the ground, and took the whole force of the fall upon one of his legs, the bones of which were shockingly shattered, some of them projecting through the flesh and penetrating the ground! His case is considered doubtful.

Accident and loss of Life.—We learn, by the Meadville Statesman, that Mr John Darno, contractor for the large viaduct on the Harrisburg and Lancaster Rail Road, 15 miles below the former place, lost his life by a fall from some part of his work, on Monday the 12th ult. His skull was fractured, and his body otherwise injured, and he expired on the Wednesday following.

The joint committee of the Government and the Bank of the United States, which have been sitting in the banking house, have, we believe, adjourned for a short time. We understand that the business was conducted in the kindest feelings on both sides—the meetings having been conducted with that propriety which distinguishes the intercourse of gentlemen.—U. S. Gazette.

Post Office Department.—The Globe publishes an account of fifty-two fines upon Mail contractors on different routes, for various delinquencies, from two dollars to four hundred and ninety-three. Among the omissions are delivery of wet mails, sending bags of newspapers by the wrong coaches, &c.

LADY'S BOOK.—For October—Just received by OTIS, BROADERS & CO. 147 Washington st. o10

CITY OF BOSTON.—In the Board of Aldermen, Oct. 3, 1836:—

The Committee on the Fire Department, to whom was referred a memorial from the Board of Engineers, with sundry recommendations therein, have attentively considered the same, and Report, that it is the duty of this Board, and a duty which they cheerfully perform at all times, to bestow the most careful attention on any recommendation proceeding from the Board of Engineers, and always to concur with their advice whenever the public good shall seem to demand such concurrence.

Your Committee have however felt their personal responsibility to this Board and to the citizens generally, too heavily, for them to rely upon any representations from others, while they possessed the means of knowledge themselves. They therefore determined upon an actual inspection of all the Houses, Engines, Carriages, Hose and other apparatus belonging to the Department, and are now enabled to speak of things they do know.

On the 29th and 30th ultimo, your Committee in company with the Chief Engineer, proceeded on this duty of inspection; they visited No. 1, in Hanover street, No. 3 in Salem street, No. 5, in Dock square, No. 6, Derne street, No. 7, Court square, No. 10, Merrimack street, No. 13, Leverett street, No. 14, Water street, No. 15, Commercial street, No. 16, Purchase street, No. 17, South Boston, and No. 20, East street. All these Engines, with their apparatus, were found to be in complete order; and there are attached to them full, active, and energetic companies.

No. 12, having been surrendered some months ago by its company, is now in the management of an association of gentlemen, who act as volunteers, till other and satisfactory arrangements can be effected, by which the peace and safety of the public will be secure. Meanwhile, influenced by a laudable spirit, worthy of all praise, they labor with vigilance to assure the public welfare, uniting in their own persons the experience of veterans with the vigor of youth. Nor is this less true of many members belonging to other companies; such services, under such circumstances, demand the public thanks.

Engine No. 2, is undergoing repairs, but will be very soon ready for use. This Engine has a full and energetic company.

No. 4, near West Boston Bridge, has lately been removed to that house, and a company has been gathered for its management, of whom the best things are hoped, in regard to the public property entrusted to them, and in regard to strictness of discipline. Time will determine if this hope is well founded.

No. 8, in Tremont street, near its junction with Washington street, has been without a company for a long time; it is in good repair, and an Engine is needed in this place, and a company, it is believed, will soon be organized for it.

No. 9 is undergoing slight repairs; the company attached to it is a very efficient body of men.

No. 11 is located at East Boston; this Engine requires some repairs which will be made before the removal into the new House, and with that repair this Engine will be a safe and serviceable machine; the new house will be finished before the season closes, and East Boston will then be furnished with Engines, Hose, Hooks and Ladders, and a well organized company of Firemen.

No. 18, the Philadelphia, has long been complained of as too heavy and unmanageable for the crowded, paved streets of the city. This Engine is now laid up, and can be sold for use in a country town, where the streets are not paved, and where there is width of road in which to move easily; it is in good order and very powerful. This Company have now an ordinary Engine for temporary use, on which, however, little reliance can be placed in time of peril; and the Committee recommend that a new Engine be procured for this Company without delay. The location of this house is central, near Pemberton's hill, and with a good Engine, no fears are entertained but that a Company will readily be found at all times, for its care and its use. When a new Engine shall be procured, the present Company will be found to be always "on hand."

The appropriations by the City Council for expenses connected with this Department, for the current year, were as follows; For Engine Houses, $8000; for Reservoirs, $10,000; for the purchase and repairs of Engines, rent of Engine Houses, and other expenses of the Department, $15,000. The cost of a new brick House, two stories high, in Franklin place, another similar House at East Boston, together with the enlargement of the House at South Boston, have absorbed the sum appropriated for the first of these purposes.

Seven capacious Reservoirs have been built this season, namely: one near the city stables, one in Blossom street, one near State street, one in Thatcher street, one in Louisburg square, a sixth in Tremont street, another in Atkinson street. That which is situated at the corner of State and Broad streets, is filled by the tide at every flood. The whole number of Reservoirs in the city is thirty-nine, seven of which were built this year.

There is one Hose Company, with four Carriages and sixteen hundred feet of Hose; the house is in Franklin place. There are, also, from four hundred to six hundred feet of Hose attached to each of the several Engines,

Of the appropriations for Reservoirs, an unexpended balance remains; with this balance it is proposed, with leave of the Council, to purchase a new Engine for No.18.

The city now owns nineteen Engines, three Hook and Ladder Carriages with Ladders, Hooks, &c., twenty-three Hose Carriages, nine thousand four hundred feet of leading Hose, and five hundred and nine feet of Suction Hose.

The organization of the Department is now complete, and there is a good spirit pervading all ranks. We have a Chief Engineer, thirteen assistant Engineers, and a Clerk to Chief Engineer, and thirteen hundred and thirty-seven firemen.

In January, 1835, Col. Amory declined a re-election as Chief Engineer. By the provisions of an ordinance the duties were on the 2d March following devolved upon Mr. John Hammond as senior assistant Engineer. In February of this year Mr. Hammond resigned, and Mr. William Barnicoat was immediately nominated and unanimously elected to that office.

The present high state of discipline, subordination and preparation for useful service which exists throughout the Department, have justified the hopes which were so generally excited when this appointment was made public.—This gentleman, it is believed, enjoys the respect and confidence of all who know him; he is urbane, yet firm; cool, yet active and efficient. Hitherto there has been no appeal to the Committee from his decision, and no appeal is expected in time to come; his experience in the affairs of the Department is great, and his labor, and zeal, and kindness are untiring.

Even with the present high condition of the Department, however, the Committee would not be entirely satisfied, had they funds at their disposal with which they could comply with the requests which have been preferred to them. But the appropriation is exhausted; and as it was made upon a liberal scale, and the Department was never in better condition, as to officers, men, apparatus and machines than it is at this time, they are constrained to say, that a further expenditure than what is now proposed is inexpedient, and may be safely deferred till after the lapse of a few months.

The Committee will not withhold an expression of the great pleasure it has afforded them to inspect the Books of the Department in the Chief Engineer's Office, and to know the manner in which these books are kept. The system of accountability which has lately been introduced, can not fail of being highly satisfactory to the public, and will be found to be greatly conducive to economy in the expenditure.

Your Committee are fully aware, that there have been grounds for complaint in time past, as to some members of the Department. But it is obviously unjust to confound all distinctions. Where will so great a number of men be found, against some of whom complaint or irregularity would not be equally just? The services required of Firemen are inconsistent with the feebleness of age, and often, with the maturity of manhood: we must rely mainly on the activity of youth for this service. Can we not find it in our hearts, then, to forbear censure. If the exuberance of their youthful spirits should sometimes incautiously, break in upon our slumbers, disturbing the luxurious visions of night? The Committee do not apologize for Riot or Sabbath breaking, for Intemperance or Profanity. The hoarse trumpet speaks in cheerful accents to the way-worn Fireman returning from his toils, with "spattered boots, strapped waist and frozen locks;" if its accents do rouse the sleep of the infant, far better is it so, than to hear the shrieks of mother and babe expiring in the flames of their own dwelling.

In seasons of quiet and peace, the lute and the lullaby may compose our spirts to slumber, but when perils impend, and when panic pervades, it is not easy to adjust the tones of the tongue or the trumpet to the nice modulations, prescribed by the taste of the fastidious.

Your Committee deem it but justice to themselves, to say that no manifest act of insubordination has been suffered to go unrebuked, that no substantiated complaint has been unheeded. The members of the Fire Department, like all other citizens, have a right to know the accusations against them, and to confront their accusers. Your Committee have not therefore searched out every vague report, lest peradventure, they should sometimes be found tracking the trail of a slanderous tongue.

The season is fast approaching, when we have reason to fear, that all the skill, labor and patience, of these citizens will be put to the trial. That they will, in such circumstances, do whatever skill, labor and patience can perform, is not doubted; but after all the preparations which can be made a watchful eye must be kept by the Police upon the reckless Incendiary whose occupation is to destroy, and above all, a confiding dependence must be placed on the Vigilance of that Eye which never needs slumber, and upon that Power which never grows weary.

For the Committee,
SAMUEL T. ARMSTRONG, Chairman.

Read and accepted, and thereupon ordered, that the same be printed in the newspapers, in which are printed the ordinances and orders of the city.

o8 Attest: S. F. McCLEARY, City Clerk.

ADAMS'S PATENT

SWELLED BEAM

THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of he Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to

JOURNEYMAN WANTED—By JOHN WILSON & SON, Merchant Tailors, No 24 Court st. o4

EXPERIENCE versus THEORY.

DR. W. EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS, having long acquired an exalted reputation in private practice by an invaluable efficacy which could only have resulted from their exalted worth, he is confident that he has only to get them extensively known to render that reputation universal. Unlike the clamorous host of quack medicines with which the columns of the public press are crowded, these Camomile Pills, have the testimony of the whole medical profession in their favor, and not a single case of ill consequences or inefficacy to be alledged against them. Their very name candidly acknowledges what they are composed of—and they honestly promise no more than they faithfully perform. They are composed of a beautiful extract of the Camomile flowers, in which all the tonic and restorative principles of that inestimable plant is preserved; and its irritating principle is neutralised by an alkeline infusion—they, therefore, necessarily afford immediate relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the digestive organs. In sick headaches, nervous debility spasmodic affections, prostration of muscular and vital energy, and consequent loss of ease, comfort, and ultimately of life itself they restore health in the most impaired and hopeless constitutions, not by being taken in excessive quantities, for the necessity of their use continually decreases, as of course it ought to do, if they are good for anything—by their direct adaptation to the powers of the human stomach. There is one disease, however, which is unhappily but too prevalent, in which their ability will perhaps become pre-eminent, and that is in the disease which is produced by violent drastic purges, taken in pernicious quantities, and which may be termed the "Quack Mortem" disease. The excessive debility, both of body and mind, produced by this destructive practice, can only be relieved by a tonic, and such as the Camomile preparation contains. Dr W. Evans supplies an antidote for a host of public poisons, and a remedy for all those diseases which he professes to cure. A single trial will prove the vast superiority of a course of practice which is based upon science, experience, common sense and honesty.

TO THE LADIES.—Amongst thousands of ladies benefitted by Dr W Evans' Camomile Pills, Mrs M. Beaumont (corner of Canal and Washington streets) has kindly allowed it to be made known for the benefit of others, that she was brought (by mental affliction) to a very weak and bad state of health, with pains in the side and head, was recommended to take Dr. W. Evans' Camomile Pills, which she has done to her comfort of mind and restoration of health. MRS. M. BEAUMONT.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—For the benefit of the public, and in gratitude to Dr W. Evans, I consider it a duty I owe, to make known the great good I have derived from EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS. Having been five years afflicted with dyspepsia of the worst kind, I made application to numerous sources without benefit, but by the use of three bottles of Evans' Camomile Pills, and three boxes of Evans's Aperient Pills, I have found signal relief, fully to my satisfaction, and I am more healthy than I have been for many years. The symptoms (which were pains in the chest, weaknesses in the whole frame, heart-burn, flatulency, acidity, and headache) are all removed. I deliver this testimony over to Dr Evans, for his and the public benefit, for it to be made known. I hereby sign my name and address.

EDWARD RHODES, 95 Crosby street, N. Y.

A great many persons have been benefited and cured of different complaints: such as Dyspepsia, Consumption, Billious and Liver complaints, Headache, Weakness, Female Complaints, Nervous Diseases, Spasms, and others of all those Complaints for which the Pills are so efficacious.

Dr W. Evans' Office where both his Camomile and Aperient Family Pills can be obtained, is at 95 Division street, New York.

DR. PHELPS' ARCANUM.—This Syrup is celebrated for the Cure of Scrofula, Eruptions or Diseases of the skin, Syphilis or Venereal Complaints, Rheumatism Ulcers in the Throat and other parts of the Body, Mercurial Affections, Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Blood, Deep seated pains in the Muscles, Bones, &c. and a regenerator of emaciated and broken Constitutions, caused by disease, intemperance, &c.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Having been made acquainted with the medical qualities and witnessed the effects of "Dr Phelps' Arcanum," I feel much confidence in saying it is a preparation of medicine greatly superior to any thing of the kind, in curing those chronic diseases for which it is intended, and recommend it to invalids in preference to any other article whatever.

SAMUEL L. MITCHELL, M. D.

New York, March 25, 1830.

My knowledge of the properties and operation of the "Arcanum of Dr Phelps," justify me in saying that it is far superior to any depurative syrup with which I am acquainted. In the most obstinate and ambiguous deseases, it displays effects peculiarly surprising. In those affections that resist the skill of the physician, such as Rheumatism, Syphilis, Scrofula, Ulcerations, and Diseases of the Skin, &c., I would recommend it as worthy of great confidence. JOHN D. GODMAN, M. D.

Philadelphia. Nov. 27, 1829.

For the last few years I have suffered excessively by a Billious Mercurial Disease, which has rendered me frequently unfit for duty, and confined me as often to my berth. My disease was the sequela of bad treatment, while in the more tropical latitudes, and laboring under an acute inflamation of the liver, and other Billiary organs. Prior and subsequently to our arrival in this port, I have had recourse to a great variety of prescriptions, medicines and nostrums—among which, were a number of bottles of Swaim's Panacea, Potter's Catholicon, the Rob of Laffecteur, &c., but without any benefit.—Dr Phelps being at that time a student of medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, advised me to make use of a newly discovered medicine, the Arcanum, which he believed would succeed in relieving me, in consequence of the very signal effects himself and others had observed in its operation in various glandular diseases, that were otherwise considered incurable. I commenced its use accordingly, and it affords me pleasure to state, that for several months past, not a vestige of the original or secondary disease has been discoverable. I prize the medicine above all others with which I have ever been acquainted. It is both pleasant and I believe certain it its effects, as a remidy in a variety of chronic diseases, incident to tropical and other climates. J. ANDREWS, Purser of the Columbian Brig Pinchinca.

Philadelphia, Jan. 5, 1835

SAVANNAH, 6th March. 1831.

GENT.—I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude to you in offering me a bottle of Dr PHELPS' ARCANUM, as an experiment in my case of Rheumatism. I have been dreadfully afflicted for upwards of twelve months, and for the last four or five months have scarcely been able to walk. I have used a dozen bottles of Swaim's Panacea, and found very little benefit from it. After taking the bottle of Arcanum. I found such a change in my whole system, that I was induced to try another, and to my surprise, the pains in my legs all disappeared, and the Ulcers in one have completely healed up, and I can walk nearly as well as ever. I shall continue to take two bottles more, and firmly believe it will make a complete cure of my disease. I remain, gentlemen, yours very respectfully,

JNO. MORRALL.

Messrs Lay & Hendrickson, Druggists, Savannah, (Geo.)

Extract of a letter from Dr Jones, a highly respectable physician, dated Baton Rogue, Louisiana, Dec. 28, 1833.—The Arcanum had two powerful competitors, Swaim's Panacea, and Potter's Catholicon, which have been for years in circulation in this place. As far as I have had an opportunity of ascertaining its virtues, I believe the Arcanum to be superior to any article of the kind, yet offered to the public. I prescribed it in a case of Irritable Ulcer of three years standing, situated on the Malleolus Extrenus—the individual thus afflicted was much emaciated and debilitated,—after one week's attendance, I put him upon the Arcanum, following the directions three bottles nearly effected a cure of the ulcer and bodily health.

I prescribed it in several Mercurial and Syphilitic Affections, where it proved salutary. I am at this time trying the Arcanum on an individual, who has been laboring under Ulcerous affections of one of his legs, for fifteen years,—he has taken 1 bottle only, and it has produced that effect, he is sanguine in the belief, it will effect a permanent cure.
